Nine Dead Miners Are Brought Up from Shaft

GREENVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Rescue workers began the slow process today of carrying out the bodies of nine miners reported killed Wednesday in a fiery explosion in a coal mine shaft near here.

A mine employee, who asked to remain unidentified, said the rescue workers had found eight bodies in one area of the mine. The body of the ninth miner was found nearby, he said.

The employee said it would take some time for the workers to bring the victims to the surface because the shaft area was small. The first body was discovered at about 4 a.m. EDT today—14 hours after the accident was reported.

Throughout the rescue operation and the reported finding of the bodies, mine officials, police and other authorities have refused to discuss the accident with newsmen.

The entire area leading to the River Queen mine entrance was cordoned off soon after the accident and newsmen have not been permitted in.

In Washington, the U.S. Bureau of Mines said it received a preliminary report that the blast resulted from the accidental detonation of a carload of explosives being transported deep in the mine.

The mine, owned and operated by Peabody Coal Co., is just south of this small coal-mining community in Western Kentucky.

About 300 persons—women, children and miners—lined a

Johnson Suffers Intestinal Ailment

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, emerging from hospital tests here, disclosed today he is suffering from diverticulitis—an intestinal ailment.

Johnson said he would return to Brooke Army Medical Center, where he underwent two days of medical tests, for further examination.

Johnson told reporters he felt "excellent."

A statement by his personal physician, Vice Adm. George G. Burkley, said that the chief executive's general physical condition was "well within the normal limits."

A fleet of 200 helicopters landed more than 3,000 soldiers of the U.S. 101st Air Cavalry Division and the Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division in the valley in the northern part of South Vietnam Sunday and Monday, but announcement of the operation was withheld until today for security reasons.

The U.S. Command in Saigon said the allied force has met with "minimal resistance" so far. Probably warned by the heavy air activity that preceded the invasion, the North Viet-road leading from the mine area to seek out loved ones, relatives and friends among those being carried out.

One of those bystanders, a middle-aged man wearing a green work uniform said: "I've been in mining all my life and my brother-in-law is down there, and I know there is no chance."

Rescue operations, coordinated by the Kentucky Division of Mines and Minerals, began soon afterward.

Bid Call Includes A Sedalia Project

Sedalia's Urban Plan project for South Limit is included in an Aug. 22 bid call, totaling an estimated $16½-million, issued by the State Highway Commission today. The call includes improvements covering nearly 39 miles in 22 counties and the cities of Sedalia, Kirkwood and St. Charles.

Included in the call are 8.3 miles of interstate system work estimated to cost $3,250,000; work on 13.3 miles of the primary system and 5.3 miles of the urban system estimated at $4,500,000; and 11.8 miles on the supplementary highway system estimated to cost

The Route 65 project calls for 1.4 miles grading, culverts, storm sewers, bridging, lighting, signals, widening existing pavement to 52 feet and resurfacing with asphaltic concrete pavement in Sedalia from Ninth Street south to the south city limits. Includes a 152-foot plate girder bridge over U.S. Route 65. This is the MKT overpass.

Another area project is: Benton County Route H, install a 345-foot continuous plate girder bridge over Cole Camp Creek, north of Edmonson, along with about 0.7 mile of necessary grading and surfacing of approaches.

Combat Deaths Indicate A Lull in Ground Battles

SAIGON (AP) — Combat casualties among American and enemy forces decreased again last week, the U.S. Command reported, continuing to reflect the lull in major ground fighting in the Vietnam war.

The number of South Vietnamese troops reported killed increased slightly over the total for the week before, while the number of wounded decreased.

The U.S. Command said 171 Americans were killed in action last week, compared with 193 a week earlier. The number of wounded last week was 1,050, down slightly from 1,086 the week before. Of the wounded last week, 563 required hospitalization.

The American command reported 899 of the enemy killed last week, the lowest weekly total reported since the first week of January 1967. But the enemy casualty total each week is usually increased considerably in the following week's report as ground sweeps turn up more bodies.

The South Vietnamese command said 250 government soldiers were killed last week compared with 243 a week earlier. The wounded totaled 738; there were 781 the previous week. The number of missing or captured last week was 10, compared with 25 the previous week.

The U.S. Command said the casualty report raised to 26,461 the number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam from Jan. 1, 1961, through Aug. 3, while the total wounded rose to 166,180. The command said 1,187 Americans are missing in action.

nameless presumably pulled back across the nearby Laotian border.

U.S. headquarters reported that 15 North Vietnamese troops had been killed in the first four days of the operation. U.S. losses were two dead and 22 wounded, while eight South Vietnamese were killed and 18 wounded.

Three helicopter gunships were shot down during the first minutes of the massive assault by 200 troop-carrying helicopters and their escorts. One crashed and burned, killing a crewman and injuring three others. But the antiaircraft fire was scanty compared to the heavy barrages that destroyed or damaged 129 U.S. helicopters during the first invasion of the valley in April.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported that government troops uncovered an enemy base camp containing 50 barracks. Searching the structures, the South Vietnamese found an assortment of ammunition including 10 rockets and 15 cases of 50-caliber machine gun ammunition. More than 4,000 pounds of rice also had been left behind.

Just outside the eastern edge of the valley, units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division uncovered an enemy bunker complex and another weapons cache that included five mortar tubes and assorted equipment, five antiaircraft machine guns, one recoilless rifle and 30 pounds of explosives.

The first allied visit to the valley lasted a month, and the American and South Vietnamese troops are not expected to stay long this time either. The valley is at the end of the

Nixon, Agnew to Head The Republican Ticket

Surprise Choice Came After 'Much Thought'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, winner of the Republican presidential nomination, today picked Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland as his running mate.

Nixon made the announcement in a brief news conference at 12:40 p.m. He said some 100 partly leaders had been consulted.

The selection of Agnew, a onetime supporter of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, was a major surprise. The Maryland governor delivered the nominating speech for Nixon Wednesday night.

Nixon opened his news conference saying the deliberations "have been very thorough on what we think is a tremendously important decision."

He said he wanted a man qualified to be president, who could campaign effectively and who would be able to assume new responsibilities dealing especially with the problems of the nation's cities.

Nixon said he will recommend the convention nominee Agnew for vice president.

Agnew was elected governor of Maryland in 1966 after a term as county executive of Baltimore County, which surrounds the city of Baltimore.

He attracted considerable Democratic support in the heavily Democratic state after George Mahoney, an outspoken foe of open housing, had captured the Democratic nomination for governor.

Nixon won a smashing first ballot Republican presidential nomination early today by bowing over Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. Since then, he told the reporters, he had been closeted with party leaders and speaking with them by telephone looking for a running mate. Smiling, he said he trounced a definite right-winger.

The announcement of a running mate had been expected between 10 and 11 a.m. EDT. Shortly after 11, Nixon's communications manager, Herbert G. Klein, said the discussions were continuing. He had a similar announcement a few minutes before Nixon turned up.

Nixon, 55, will be running with a 49-year-old vice presidential candidate. But first the party delegates, at a session tonight, will have to go through the motions of ratifying Nixon's selection. The two candidates then will make acceptance speeches.

Nixon's first ballot victory culminated a smoothly organized drive for a second try at the presidency. Nixon lost out to John F. Kennedy in a tight race in 1960.

Delegates erupted in a turbulent shouting, band-blaring, sign-waving demonstration when Wisconsin was reached on the state roll call. Nixon had sewed up the 30 Wisconsin votes in a primary and it was those votes which put him over the 667 count necessary for the nomination.

Nixon later summed up his victory in these words at a news conference:

"I was ready. I was willing and the events were such that the party wanted me."

The next order of business today was for Nixon to name his

Satisfied With Ike's Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today they were pleased with the continuing progress former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is making after his newest major heart attack.

They also relayed a statement from Eisenhower saying he was "delighted" over the nomination of Richard M. Nixon to be the Republican presidential candidate.

Eisenhower spent a restful night at Walter Reed Army Hospital, where he suffered his latest heart attack early Tuesday, the doctors said.

Medical attendants relayed the word of Nixon's nomination to him during the night when he awoke spontaneously.

The formal medical bulletin on Eisenhower said "Gen. Eisenhower spent another restful night. Vital signs remain stable. The doctors report that they are pleased with the general's progress."

There have been cardiac irregularities since the attack, described as major, Tuesday morning but they have not been pronounced, doctors reported Wednesday.

They indicated optimism over the 77-year-old, five-star general's condition after his third heart attack in three months and sixth since 1965 by limiting medical bulletins to one a day unless his condition worsens.

Eisenhower has not been allowed to watch the Republican National Convention on television since suffering the attack Tuesday morning, but has received reports from his son, John, who flew to the Capital from Miami Beach.

Eisenhower, who gave Nixon a lukewarm endorsement for the presidency eight years ago after Nixon understudied him through two terms, came out strongly for his former vice president in a hospital news conference several weeks ago.

New Bridge Planned For Davis Creek

Senator John C. Ryan met with State Highway Commission representatives, Sweet Springs city officials and landowners at the Sweet Springs city hall Wednesday to discuss the problem of the Davis Creek bridge on old Highway 40 west of Sweet Springs.

During heavy rains, brush piles up against the bridge, forming a dam which floods the surrounding "bottom land," resulting in numerous complaints.

W. H. Dill, engineer for District 4 of the Missouri State Highway Commission, told Ryan and area landowners an attempt to solve the problem was planned.

Following the meeting, Dill told Sweet Springs city officials, including Mayor Ralph Hall, Harvey Schelp, Herbert Schelp and Homer Gerking, that a new bridge would be constructed within a year to ease the situation.

Aug. 19 Is Date Named For New Store Opening

According to C.W. Jett, 1803 West Fourth, getting through the "red tape" looms large in launching any new business.

Jet Furniture, 222 East Third, will be opening for business Aug. 19, and will handle 11 brands of nationally advertised furniture.

Jett, who was vice-president of Interstate Studios here for 12 years, said that the store would be a warehouse operation in which the store buys directly from the assembly lines, trucks the merchandise to Sedalia, and sells to the buyer at reduced prices.

At this point, a new front has been put across the building, and interior renovations are being made. Coupled with receiving furniture and tagging it for sale, the manager is keeping more than busy.

The store area covers over 5,000 square feet of floor space — occupying what was the Sheltered Workshop — an extension of the Children's Therapy Center.

The grand opening is slated for a later date, at which time an entire houseful of furniture will be given away.

'Workshop' Moved To a New Location

By Dick Staging
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

The Sheltered Workshop, part of the Children's Therapy Center, has relocated at 204 East 16th, and will be open for business on Aug. 19th, it was learned today.

According to the director, Roger Garlich, this will be the third year of operation for the Workshop, which is basically a program for children who are handicapped either physically or mentally.

It is a vocationally oriented program which, according to Garlich, affords the "kids who people said couldn't earn a dime" the dignity of getting a paycheck. Last year, the payroll was $8,000 for 26 children.

The Workshop has subcontracted work with Rival Manufacturing Co., Adco and Zephyr, does numerous mail-outs and maintains several self-sustaining contracts.

The Workshop is one of 18 which are in existence in Missouri, under Senate Bill No. 52 which created the Extended Employment Workshops.

Violence Follows On Heels of Rally

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bands of young Negroes set fire to cars, stoned white motorists and looted stores in a five-block area of northwest Miami Wednesday night in a disturbance touched off when police massed at a rally aimed at airing problems facing Negroes.

Some 25 persons were injured, including two Negroes who police said were shot by unknown gunmen.

About 100 Negroes were arrested, mostly on charges of disorderly conduct leading to rioting.

Trouble broke out in the predominantly Negro area about 6:30 p.m., several hours before Republican delegates 10 miles away across Biscayne Bay on Miami Beach nominated Richard M. Nixon as their presidential candidate.

Miami Police Lt. Jay Golden said both of the men who were shot were in good condition. He said: "The police have not fired one bullet."

Clarence Curry, 25, was wounded as he was being questioned in a looting case. Golden said two shots rang out in the darkness but no gunman was seen. The other shooting victim, Cephus Griffen, was hit by a stray bullet as he walked along a sidewalk, police said.

Most of the injured suffered cuts from broken glass and bruises from rocks and bottles. Police said at least 32 stores were broken into and seven were looted. Three cars were burned and two were damaged by rocks.

Four newsmen were among the injured and a man driving a car with a George Wallace bumper sticker was stoned as hundreds of Negroes circled his wrecked automobile. Dazed and bleeding, he was pulled to safety in a bar by two Negroes.

The violence ended after the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, leading his Poor People's Campaign at the GOP convention, and Gov. Claude Kirk, a convention delegate, walked through the streets urging calm and conferred with Negro leaders.

Horsemen of 4-H Club Hold Yearly Roundup

The annual Pettis County 4-H Horseman Round-up was held Saturday at the State Fair Coliseum. A total of 60 participants of the 80 enrolled in the horsemanship projects attended. A crowd of about 200 were on hand to cheer their favorite contestants on to the finish line.

The Showmanship, Horseman, and Western Horseman classes were divided up into three age groups — Under 12, 12 and 13, and 14 and over. This was to put each person on the same level as contestants with relative the same amount of experience.

During the morning the contestants were judged individually on their knowledge and control of the horse and saddle. This was included in the Showmanship class, which all entered. The contestants were judged on their ability to show their horses.

Following Showmanship was the Horseman class. The knowledge of the contestants toward the saddle was judged in this class. Each entrant had to take off the saddle, check the hoofs, and replace the saddle.

Nearly everyone entered the Western Horseman class also, with handling of the horse the main criterion judged. The riders made their horses trot, canter and walk.

Pole Bending, Barrel Race, Flag Race and Through the Barrel races were held. The group was divided into two groups according to the size of the horse.

The Pole Bending race consisted of weaving in and out of the poles as fast as possible to the finish line. In the process, the poles were bent as the horses brushed past. Jay Cronhardt and Gail Lacey were the winners in the race.

Cheryl Spickert and Monte Chambers were the winners in the Barrel Race, in which each contestant rode around four barrels as fast as possible.

A barrel with a flag in it was set up for the Flag Race. A short distance from this an empty barrel was placed. The object was to place the flag in the other barrel as fast as possible. Winners were Cheryl Spickert and Monte Chambers.

The last class, Through the Barrel, was perhaps the most strenuous. Contestants had to ride to a barrel, crawl through the barrel, and ride back to the finish line. Steve Galloway and Gail Embree were winners in this class.

The high-point person in each class was as follows: Under 12, Billy Joe Killion; 12 and 13, Debbie Galloway; 14 and over, Steve Galloway. All received trophies.

District representatives going to Higginsville Friday are as follows: 12 and 13, Showmanship, Debbie Galloway; Horseman, Gail Eads; Western Horseman, Teresa Spickert. Fourteen and over, Showmanship, Cheryl Spickert; Horseman, Steve Galloway; Western Horseman, Jay Cronhardt. Focal Class, Steve Galloway, Jay Cronhardt and Cheryl Spickert.

The contestants were judged by Burt Harriman, Calvin Togetheroff and Curt Steinberger.

Red, white and blue ribbons awarded for Horseman, Showmanship, and Western Horseman respectively were: (Under 12) Danny Homan, W.R.W.; Douglas Staples, W.W.R.; Randy Rife, W.R.R.; Perry McCollister, R.B.B.; Rhonda Ash, R.R.B.; Paul Lindsey, W.W.W.; Monte Chambers, W.R.R.; Cabin Galloway, R.B.W.; James Carroll, B.B.B.; Jane Jones, R.W.R.; Ricky Jones, R.R.B.; Karen Kinsey, W.W.W.; Gail Embree, W.W.R.; Donna Green, R.B.R.; Gail Lacey, W.W.W.; Gary Shirk, W.R.W.; Judy Finlay, W.R.R.; Billy Killion, B.B.B.; Jim McMullin, W.W.W.; Bill Wagenknecht, W.B.; Joe Hand, B.R.B.; Allen Pace, W.R.W. Delegates Happy to See '64 Contender

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Barry Goldwater, conservative spellbinder of the 1964 Republican convention, is at it again.

The former Arizona senator changed his mind about returning home and quietly set up shop Tuesday in an unpretentious hotel room. Delegates began pouring through the halls.

Goldwater's rousing welcome at Convention Hall Monday night briefly rekindled his glory of four years ago in San Francisco, and provided an opportunity Richard M. Nixon couldn't pass up.

Goldwater said only Nixon could have prevailed on him to remain at the convention. Now Goldwater says he will be in Miami Beach until Thursday, the morning after the presidential candidate is scheduled to be named.

Southern delegations were Goldwater's specialty Tuesday — Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Alabama, Florida and Georgia. Generally he told them Nixon would be conservative enough to win in the South.

Double Tragedy

NORTH KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — After Raymond Dumas lost his first wife, Eileen, in an automobile accident at Clinton, Mass., in 1964, he married her older sister, Josephine. Tuesday, Josephine was killed when her car hit a tree off Route 1A in North Kingston.

Dumas, an aviation storekeeper first class assigned to the aircraft carrier Essex, has nine children aged 4 to 18.

Says Plant Closing

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The closing of the Interco plant at Hannibal is subject to arbitration, U.S. Dist. Judge James A. Meredith ruled Tuesday.

Local 198 of the United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America (AFL-CIO) filed a grievance, contending the closing was a lockout and deprived employees of wages and fringe benefits. Interco claimed operations at the plant were uneconomical because of its age.

The company had closed the plant in 1966 and planned to move operations to a newer facility at Bryan, Tex.

Early Defeats Brushed Aside

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — When Richard M. Nixon lost back-to-back elections, for president in 1960 and governor of California in 1962, it was widely assumed that he had come at last to the end of the trail after 16 controversial years in politics.

One who disagreed was Dwight D. Eisenhower. "He's too able a man, extremely able," said the former President. "It's not possible to say his career is ended. Somebody is going to invite him back into politics."

Five years later, Eisenhower's prediction came true. In late 1967, as another presidential election year approached, surveys of working Republicans on their choice for a candidate showed Nixon's name leading all the rest. The so-called "loser" was on the way to becoming the winner at the polls again as he marched through the primaries to become the frontrunner.

After the ideological bitterness among the Republicans in 1964, followed by Barry Goldwater's shattering defeat for the presidency, it was Nixon who undertook to pick up the pieces.

Through two hard years, he roved the nation, campaigning tirelessly for GOP candidates for office. He delivered more than 600 speeches, raised several million dollars in party funds, and labored to strengthen the organization at all levels, national, state and local.

In the process, naturally, he earned the gratitude of the men for whom he campaigned and from scores of party leaders. He accumulated a satchful of political IOU's.

When the Republicans made a strong comeback in the off year elections of 1966, Nixon was widely credited with their success. In a sense, he came back, too. Suddenly, he was in the presidential picture again.

It was not the first time he had faced seemingly insuperable odds and won through. You have to go back 23 years . . .

In the summer of 1945, the Republican leaders in the 12th congressional district of California confronted a problem of longstanding: how to elect a congressman.

The district was strongly Republican. Yet it regularly returned to Congress a Democrat, Jerry Voorhis. Obviously, he was popular with voters in both parties. His position looked impregnable.

The California leaders first offered the nomination to Dr. Walter Dexter, a former president of Whittier College. He was unable to accept but he made a suggestion. He said they might consider one of his former students, Richard Milhous Nixon, prize-winning student, lawyer, civic leader, now a lieutenant commander in the Navy.

They looked into Nixon's record and quietly talked with persons who had known him all his life.

He was born Feb. 9, 1913, in Yorba Linda, a tiny community not far from Whittier. His father was a small businessman. To contribute to the family finances during his boyhood, Nixon picked beans on the ranches and worked as a janitor in a public school, a sweeper in a packing house, and a gasoline station attendant.

In college he maintained a high level of scholarship through four years and had acquired a reputation as a formidable debater. When he graduated in 1934, he was awarded the Harvard Club of California prize as the outstanding student of his class.

By that time he had decided to be a lawyer. In 1934, however, the nation was still in the grip of the Great Depression. Nixon's family could not afford to send him to law school, so he applied for a scholarship at Duke University in Durham, N.C.

Dexter supported the application with a letter in which he said he expected Nixon to become "one of America's important leaders."

There were 44 students in Nixon's class at Duke. He said he counted 32 Phi Beta Kappa keys among them and commented, "I don't see how I can stay on top in this group." But he did. He was an honor student and was elected president of the Duke Bar Association.

He returned to Whittier and joined a law firm.

One night, with some friends, Nixon went to a little theater to watch the tryouts for a play. He noticed a pretty blonde. He learned her name was Thelma Ryan, nicknamed "Pat" by her father, and that she came from Ely, Nev. She had been teaching school in Whittier for several months.

He proposed to her that same evening.

They were married June 21, 1940, a little more than a year after they met.

During the war, Nixon first served in the Office of Price Administration for about six months in 1942. He learned something of Washington and he later commented, unfavorably, on how "political appointees at the top feathered their nests with all kinds of overlapping and empire building."

He joined the Navy as a lieutenant and served largely in the South Pacific. Just before he was mustered out as a lieutenant commander in 1946, the Republicans in his district in California asked him to be their candidate for Congress. He accepted.

In the campaigning, a series of five debates was arranged between Nixon and Voorhis. Nixon said later he considered the first debate a turning point for him.

Nixon won by a vote of 65,586 to 49,994.

His tactics in that election generated considerable controversy. Long afterward, on a television program entitled "The Political Obituary of Richard M. Nixon," Voorhis said:

"He was a clever opponent, able opponent, well-financed opponent, and I think I have a right to say that he was quite a ruthless opponent."

Nixon said, "Voorhis lost because that district was not a New Deal district. Our campaign was a very honest debate on the issues."

Hiss, a former government official, was investigated by the House un-American Affairs Committee in 1948. Nixon played a leading role in the inquiry. Hiss later was convicted of perjury and served a term in prison.

Hiss also appeared on the TV program about Nixon's "political obituary" and said of him, "My impression of Nixon as an investigator was that he was less interested in developing the facts objectively than in seeking ways of making a preconceived plan appear plausible."

Nixon said Hiss' testimony "indicated to me that he might be following a general practice of testifying apparently forthrightly and openly on all matters, but actually giving the committee what information he wanted to and refusing to give information which he did not want the committee to have."

Nixon involved himself in other controversial issues as a congressman and senator. He helped write the Taft-Hartley labor law which was passed over President Harry Truman's veto. And when Truman stripped the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur of his Far Eastern commands, Nixon sponsored a resolution of confidence in MacArthur.

He had been in the capital only six years when Gen. Eisenhower, nominated for president on the first ballot at the GOP convention in Chicago in 1952, asked it to nominate Nixon for vice president by acclamation. The delegates did.

Nixon was 39 when he was elected, the second youngest vice president in American history. John C. Breckinridge was 35 when he was elected as James Buchanan's vice president.

But before the election of 1952 Nixon found himself making unwelcome newspaper headlines—the so-called "Nixon Fund."

A group of California businessmen contributed some $18,000 to the fund. Nixon was to use it as he pleased. Some Republican leaders called for Nixon to resign as Eisenhower's running mate.

Eisenhower made greater use of his vice president than any previous chief executive. He sent Nixon as his personal emissary to 56 countries.

DESTINED TO DIE, the Biafran children in these photos may already have succumbed to starvation and malnutrition because of a political standoff. Frustrated workers, top, stand in their mission surrounded by relief supplies which they are prevented from distributing because the Nigerian federal government insists emergency relief for secessionist Biafra be channeled through Nigeria, but the Biafran government will accept supplies only if flown directly to Biafra. Meanwhile thousands await death in the African nation.

Kansas Had Two 'Favorite Sons'

By ELON TORRENCE
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Kansas had two "favorite sons" nominated for President Wednesday night.

Attention of the Kansas delegation to the Republican national convention was focused on Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., who will retire in January after 40 years in public life.

But also nominated was Gov. Walter J. Hickel of Alaska, who grew up and attended public schools at Clafflin, Kan.

Sen. Clifford P. Hansen, R-Wyo., placed Carlson's name in nomination as a man whose record of public service "is already a legend in Kansas."

The nomination touched off a demonstration by Kansans and large numbers of people from other states to pay tribute to the gray haired Senator who was born of Swedish immigrants on a farm near Concordia, Kan.

Carlson, 75, still owns and operates a farm at Concordia. Carlson was seated in a box in convention hall as his name was placed in nomination. Sharing the box with him were Mrs. Carlson, and a long-time personal friend of the Senator, evangelist Billy Graham.

Their friendship stems in part from Carlson's long active role in religious affairs. The Senator is credited with initiating the series of prayer breakfasts for national leaders.

Dozens of large paper sunflowers sprang up on the floor of convention hall following Carlson's nomination.

A parade featured a Kansas Jayhawk, several persons in sunflower costumes, and a number of Carlson's Senate colleagues. Among the Senators in the parade were James B. Pearson of Kansas, Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, and Jacob Javits of New York.

The former Debbie Bryant, Miss America of 1966, who now is Mrs. Rod Wilson of Lawrence, Kan., and the Senator's grandchildren, Christine and Edward Carlson Rolf of Junction City, Kan., were in the parade.

Seconding speeches for Carlson were given by McDill Boyd, GOP national committeeman and chairman of the Kansas delegation; Mrs. Jerenne Dodge, national committeewoman from Salina, Kan.; Don Schnaack, delegate from Topeka, Kan., and Price Woodard, an alternate delegate from Wichita, Kan.

Has Telephones Installed Despite Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Representatives of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey have had extra telephones installed at his Chicago offices despite a strike by electrical workers against the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., The New York Times said today.

The story from Chicago, where the Democratic National Convention will be held later this month, also said in part:

Spokesmen for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, Humphrey's rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, complained that lack of telephones was jeopardizing their operation. But they said they had not sought and would not seek to circumvent the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in acquiring extra phones.

A Humphrey spokesman at first denied that extra telephones had been installed, then said that Illinois Bell management personnel had put six in one office.

It Was Too Late for Rocky

By CHARLES DUMAS
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's failure to win the Republican presidential nomination almost surely will be recorded as a classic example of the time-worn adage, "He who hesitates is lost."

If it is possible to blame any one element for Rockefeller's undoing, it is that he entered the race much too late.

"It all goes back to March 21," said former Rep. William E. Miller, the 1964 GOP vice-presidential nominee, who labored in Rockefeller's cause this time.

On that chilly spring day in Manhattan, Rockefeller jolted political professionals and dismayed ardent admirers by announcing that he would not seek the nomination.

He had been expected to fill the void left by the withdrawal of Michigan Gov. George Romney, whom Rockefeller had encouraged to carry the so-called moderate Republican banner against Nixon.

Rockefeller had been beset by a wide variety of influential Republicans across the nation, including several governors, to declare his candidacy. They had taken his many previous disclaimers of interest as stalling tactics and had assumed he would now agree that the time had come to make his move.

Not quite six weeks later, Rockefeller went before another news conference, this time in Albany, N.Y., and declared that he had changed his mind—he now would pursue the nomination with "all my heart."

But damage had been done to his prospects. He not only lost valuable campaign time but also the allegiance of supporters.

If Rockefeller came in too late, it certainly was not with too little.

The multimillionaire mounted a campaign fueled by lavish expenditures of money and energy.

He poured millions of dollars—the latest estimate is $5 million, but rivals believe the figure is much higher—into a dazzling advertising campaign, a heavily staffed campaign headquarters and a jet-powered air caravan that criss-crossed the nation many times.

Rockefeller pitched for support through an outpouring of professionally produced television spot commercials and a series of full-page ads in major newspapers throughout the country.

He wanted to show his strength in public opinion polls and thereby persuade party leaders that he was the candidate they needed for a sweeping GOP victory in November. After a faltering start, the polls gradually began to turn his way.

But the serious problem of belated entry evidenced itself in Rockefeller's inability to recapture the loyalty of some of his original backers.

Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, who had led the effort to draw Rockefeller into the race was a key example. Agnew was said to have soured on Rockefeller after the March 21 statement.

Agnew spurned Rockefeller's plea to keep the Maryland delegation neutral and instead nominated Nixon.

Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe, another who had spoken out for Rockefeller in the early going, seconded Nixon's nomination.

Rockefeller also had trouble convincing rank-and-file delegates that they should ignore their inclinations toward Nixon in favor of a more-likely winner—himself.

The defeated candidate told a news conference early today, "I think this convention genuinely preferred Dick Nixon and the same was true for the leadership of the party. It's as simple as that."

Asked, however, if he felt he should have run his campaign differently, Rockefeller said, "I'd do it exactly the same."

Smelly Battle Rages Between Skunks and Men

PITTSBURG, Kan. (AP)—It took a policeman, the fire department and an animal control officer to dispossess five skunks from an apartment house shed in Pittsburg.

They were detected Monday night. Patrolman Steve Marshall, first on the scene, tossed a tear gas grenade in their direction. The skunks volleyed back.

Ventilating fans in the apartment house picked up the fumes. Its seven residents, caught in the crossfire, beat a hasty retreat.

Marshall called for reinforcements. The fire department and animal control officer Steve Berry responded.

Berry finally trapped the skunks in box traps, and firemen pumped out the building with a big exhaust fan so the inhabitants could return.

Gets Assistantship

Miss Penny Lee Keele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Keele, 2301 South Ingram, and a 1964 Smith-Cotton graduate, has been granted a graduate assistantship as hostess at Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C., where she will continue undergraduate studies toward a teaching certificate.

Newsman Stopped At Free Beer Hall

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Just to test things out, a newsman showed up at Convention Hall Tuesday night totally without credentials.

He got in the parking area without a pass. He got into the hall itself, again without a pass. But he finally was stopped. In the free-beer hall run by 13 railroads.

Evidently one sure security rule in this security-conscious convention is: No pass, no beer.

Glaize Arm of Lake Is Dragged for Body

OSAGE BEACH, Mo. (AP)—The Glaize Arm of the Lake of the Ozarks was dragged today for a missing boy thrown from a motorboat which swerved sharply out of control Wednesday.

Sought was Mike Jennings, 16. Two girls with him, also tossed into the lake, were rescued.

They are Karen LeCompe and Yvonne Lotstich, both 12. All were vacationing from Oklahoma City.

Ann Landers

Teen Fans Steady Though Divided

Dear Ann Landers: For crying in the grog, will you please quit wasting valuable newspaper space on those squirrely teen-age "problems." The kids who write have a different beef every five minutes — especially the girls — they sound as if the world is coming to an end. I'll bet by the time their letters appear in print they have forgotten who the clown was they were writing about.

In the past two weeks I've read nonsense from a sitter who complained about not getting fed while on the job, a boring thing from a girl whose parents fight all the time and a stupid request for a cure for acne. You've also printed letters from kids whose friends are shoplifters and smoke pot. Such letters should not get space in your column. It makes the writer feel important.

Please use your brains on the adults who need your help. Ann. The punks can manage for themselves. Besides, they probably don't listen to you anyway. — STEADY ANN FAN

Dear Steady: Thanks for your point of view Here's someone else's:

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a teen reader who would like to make a request. Please, Ann, make sure there is at least one teen-age problem in your column every day. We teens are faithful readers and when we get passed over completely we feel very let down, like ignored.

Many teen-agers have no one to confide in. Your column is a wonderful place to unload without fear of humiliation or embarrassment. We also learn a lot from the kids who have made mistakes and written to say so. So please, Ann, pay more attention to us. We really need you. — TRUE BLUE TO YOU

Dear True: I can't promise, but I will try to publish one teen-age letter every day. Thanks for your vote of confidence.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the wife who complained because she and her husband must go visit her 79-year-old mother-in-law "several times a year." She said the old lady lives 140 miles away and the trips are a big, fat bore.

My mother-in-law lives two blocks away and she drives me and my husband nuts. She thinks nothing of telephoning at 7:30 in the morning and asking him to go get her a pint of coffee cream or a loaf of bread. And no matter where she goes, he has to drive her.

I hope the woman who complained sees this letter and realizes how lucky she is. I'd be happy to go visit her mother-in-law "several times a year" if she'd play hand-maiden to my mother-in-law around the clock. — WORN OUT

Dear Worn: Sorry I can't arrange the switch but thanks for writing.

Confidential to Why Am I Mad? You are mad because she denied you of solitude without providing you with company. Your neighbor had no right to bring over a pack of bores. Tell her if she values your

New Version Of Diary Published

NEW YORK (AP) — A new version of Ernesto Che Guevara's Bolivian diaries describes 13 guerrillas killed with Guevara as high-ranking Cuban army officers including four members of the Cuban Communist party's Central Committee.

Sol Stein, president of Stein and Day publishing house, said its version published Tuesday was obtained from the Bolivian armed forces and contains all the diaries of Guevara and three of his lieutenants.

Stein told a news conference that a pirated version put out last month by Fidel Castro and published here by Ramparts magazine and Bantam Books, suppressed the identity of the Cuban guerrillas who accompanied Guevara in Bolivia.

friendship she will not pull that stunt again.

Want to say "no" to drinking without your buddies putting you down? Get cued in. Write for "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long-self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Training Session

Apollo 7 command pilot Walter M. Schirra Jr., jumps from an Apollo spacecraft into a life raft containing the other two members of the crew, Walter Cunningham, left, and Donn F. Eisele, right, during water egress training for their up-coming spaceflight scheduled for later this year. Apollo 7 will be the first flight in the program to land men on the moon. (UPI)

Wants To Appear Successful

By JOHN WEYLAND
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin leadership apparently wants to show the Russians it handled the confrontation with Czechoslovakia successfully and is assured of continued loyalty to Soviet-style communism.

That seems to be the purpose of a communiqué, front-paged in the Moscow press Wednesday, which proclaimed satisfaction that the six-nation meeting in Bratislava Saturday produced a pledge of "irreconcilable struggle against bourgeois ideology and against anti-socialist forces."

This document, issued by the Soviet Communist party Politburo, ignored concessions to the reformist leadership of Czechoslovakia. It did not mention the acknowledgment that each Communist party has the right to "consider national characteristics and conditions" in running its own country.

This appears to have a double purpose:

—To counter possible charges that the Kremlin bungled by playing up the crisis with Czechoslovakia, then backing down and accepting the liberalization movement.

—To remind Prague the Soviet Union takes a dim view, of the freedom of speech and press which last month produced such things as attacks on the Warsaw Pact and accusations of Kremlin interference in Czechoslovak politics.

The Presidium of the Czechoslovak Communist party obviously got the message. It appealed to Czechoslovak newsmen in a communiqué issued in Prague Wednesday to show restraint in commenting on national and international affairs, "especially in the field of foreign policy."

Although some reports from abroad interpreted Bratislava as complete Soviet acceptance of the Czechoslovak liberalization movement, the indications here have been that it fell short of that.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Willis Mothersbaugh and family, Lee's Summit; Mr. and Mrs. John T. Holloway and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mothersbaugh, all of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Roe and children; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mothersbaugh and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stevens, Windsor.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Biggs and son; Mr. and Mrs. Armon Higgins and Mrs. Eula Lynch, Lincoln; Mrs. Dorothy Woolery, Clinton; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. King, Houston; Miss Marcy Jones, Houston, Tex., and Mrs. Ray Crosslin, Sedalia. Mrs. Crosslin is working on the family genealogy.

Both men and women of the South Pacific isle of Yap carry their personal belongings in palm-leaf handbags, having no pockets in their favored loincloths and grass skirts.

Refreshments were served following the meeting. The next meeting will be held Sept. 5.

Flat Creek 4-H Club In Meeting

Flat Creek 4-H Club met Aug. 1, at 8 p.m. Kimberly Golston told of 4-H Camp and of some of the interesting experiences she had there.

Pam Monsees explained points and how they are received.

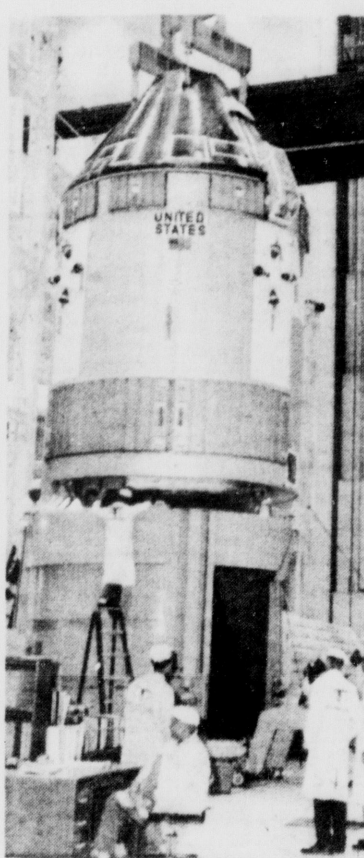

Demonstrations were given by Pam Onwiler on "Sewing" and Mitze McPatrick on "How to Make Wheat Bread."

Roll call was answered with "Favorite Summer Food."

An ice cream social was held Sunday beginning at 5:30 p.m. Homemade ice cream and cake will be served. A hayride was planned for the middle of September.

Refreshments were served following the meeting.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 5.

HANDLE WITH CARE—The Apollo 7 moonship is moved from a large test chamber to a work stand at Cape Kennedy for installation of its rocket nozzle. The spacecraft is scheduled to be moved to the launch pad this weekend. Astronauts Walter Schirra, Donn Eisele and Walter Cunningham are expected to begin their 11-day orbital flight in Apollo 7 in mid-October. (UPI)

Unexpected 'Guests' Force Airliner Down

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli airliner turned back to Tel Aviv Wednesday when the crew discovered among the passengers two Arabs they hadn't known about, informed sources reported.

The sources said the El Al flight to Istanbul had aboard two Arabs the crew knew about, from Jenin, in the West Bank area seized from Jordan in the 1967 war. But after the plane was in the air, two more Arabs were discovered among the passengers, and the pilots returned.

El Al pilots are on edge since three Arab commandos hijacked an El Al jetliner on July 23 and forced it to land in Algeria. Algeria is still holding the plane and 12 Israeli men who were in the crew or among the passengers.

An El Al spokesman, confirming the report, said the four Arabs were rechecked and cleared, and the airliner was permitted to take off again.

Our word "admiral" comes from the Arabian word "amir," meaning ruler or commander.

Jet Aircraft Noise Results in Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for some 94,000 residents of suburban Inglewood have filed a $1.4-billion suit against the city of Los Angeles over jet aircraft noise.

The residents, who live near Los Angeles International Airport, said in their suit Tuesday that the noise resulted in "nervous and emotional disturbances of a permanent nature."

The Superior Court suit was filed just two weeks after the Airport Commission won approval to issue $410 million in revenue bonds to finance airport expansion.

Has His Own Way Of Enforcing Law

BOSTON (AP) — Charles Wong looked out his apartment window and saw a thief taking the wheels off his car.

Wong sent his two sons to block the end of the street, then went to the car, and without saying anything about his ownership, invited the man to wash up in the Wong apartment.

When the man went into the apartment, Wong locked him in a closet and called police.

A Man Must Have Some Goal to Keep Living

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't what a man gets or does that makes him happy—it's what he dreams of getting or doing.

When a man runs out of goals in this world he usually runs out of breath shortly thereafter. Rust clogs him, ennui mows him down.

No matter how fruitless, inappropriate or downright foolish a dream may be, so long as it attracts that person's interest it keeps him alive. Most daydreams, in fact, are mock heroic. In his heart of hearts the most rut-bound man is always galloping off with the Three Musketeers on missions of danger and adventure.

For example, I find in making a rollick of my own frustrated daydreams, I have yet to—

Stun a bully with a karate chop.

Play "kneesy under the table" with Kim Novak.

Bulldog a steer or ride a bucking horse in a rodeo.

Buy a kitchen sink garbage grinder.

Belly up to the bar in the Ritz Hotel in Paris and ask the bartender whom he really liked better—F. Scott Fitzgerald or Ernest Hemingway.

Eat a pickled eel or a tiger steak.

Defeat Charles de Gaulle in a game of Indian hand wrestling.

Cry "mush!" to a dog sled team as a pack of arctic wolves closed in silently from behind.

Get a royal flush in a poker game when there was more than 68 cents in the pot.

Lead an elephant into a sub-way car during the morning rush hour—and then sit down in its lap.

Defeat a desert sheik in a horse race across the burning sands of Arabia.

Save a wealthy banker's daughter from drowning by crawling across thin ice to the rescue.

Have my life changed for the better by following the advice given in a Chinese fortune cookie.

Beat a bongo drum in the Congo.

Hand a stack of chips to a mysterious blonde standing next to me at a roulette table at Monte Carlo and tell her, "Play any number you want, baby—there's lots more where that came from."

Pack up my troubles in my old kit bag, and smile, smile, smile.

Burn a joss stick in a ruined Chinese temple.

Wear a figleaf and a monocle to a dull P.T.A. meeting.

Well, that's a partial list of one man's unachieved daydreams. What are yours?

Missouri Finally Joined the Winner

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Missouri delegation to the Republican national convention split its votes three ways early today in the balloting for a presidential nominee, then jumped on the winner's bandwagon before the tally was completed.

When the roll call of states reached Missouri, the state's 24 votes were announced this way: Richard M. Nixon, 16; Nelson A. Rockefeller, 5; Ronald Reagan, 3.

But after Nixon clinched the nomination with a majority of the total vote, Missouri was among the states which switched all of its votes to the former vice president.

Largest Expense Will Be Security

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The largest single expense incurred by the Republican National Convention probably will be the cost of paying security guards and ushers, according to Mrs. J. Willard Marriott, treasurer of the convention.

Mrs. Marriott, of Washington, D.C., said no price has been set yet for the more than 300 private security people hired by the convention but no other single category will cost more.

Family Meets At Windsor Reunion

The Mothersbaugh family met for a reunion July 28 at Windsor with 38 members attending. Floyd Mothersbaugh was the oldest member present and Michael Jr., the youngest member present. Marcy Jones was acknowledged for traveling the farthest to attend the gathering.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Willis Mothersbaugh and family, Lee's Summit; Mr. and Mrs. John T. Holloway and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mothersbaugh, all of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Roe and children; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mothersbaugh and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stevens, Windsor.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Biggs and son; Mr. and Mrs. Armon Higgins and Mrs. Eula Lynch, Lincoln; Mrs. Dorothy Woolery, Clinton; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. King, Houston; Miss Marcy Jones, Houston, Tex., and Mrs. Ray Crosslin, Sedalia. Mrs. Crosslin is working on the family genealogy.

Both men and women of the South Pacific isle of Yap carry their personal belongings in palm-leaf handbags, having no pockets in their favored loincloths and grass skirts.

FARM & HOME

LARGEST

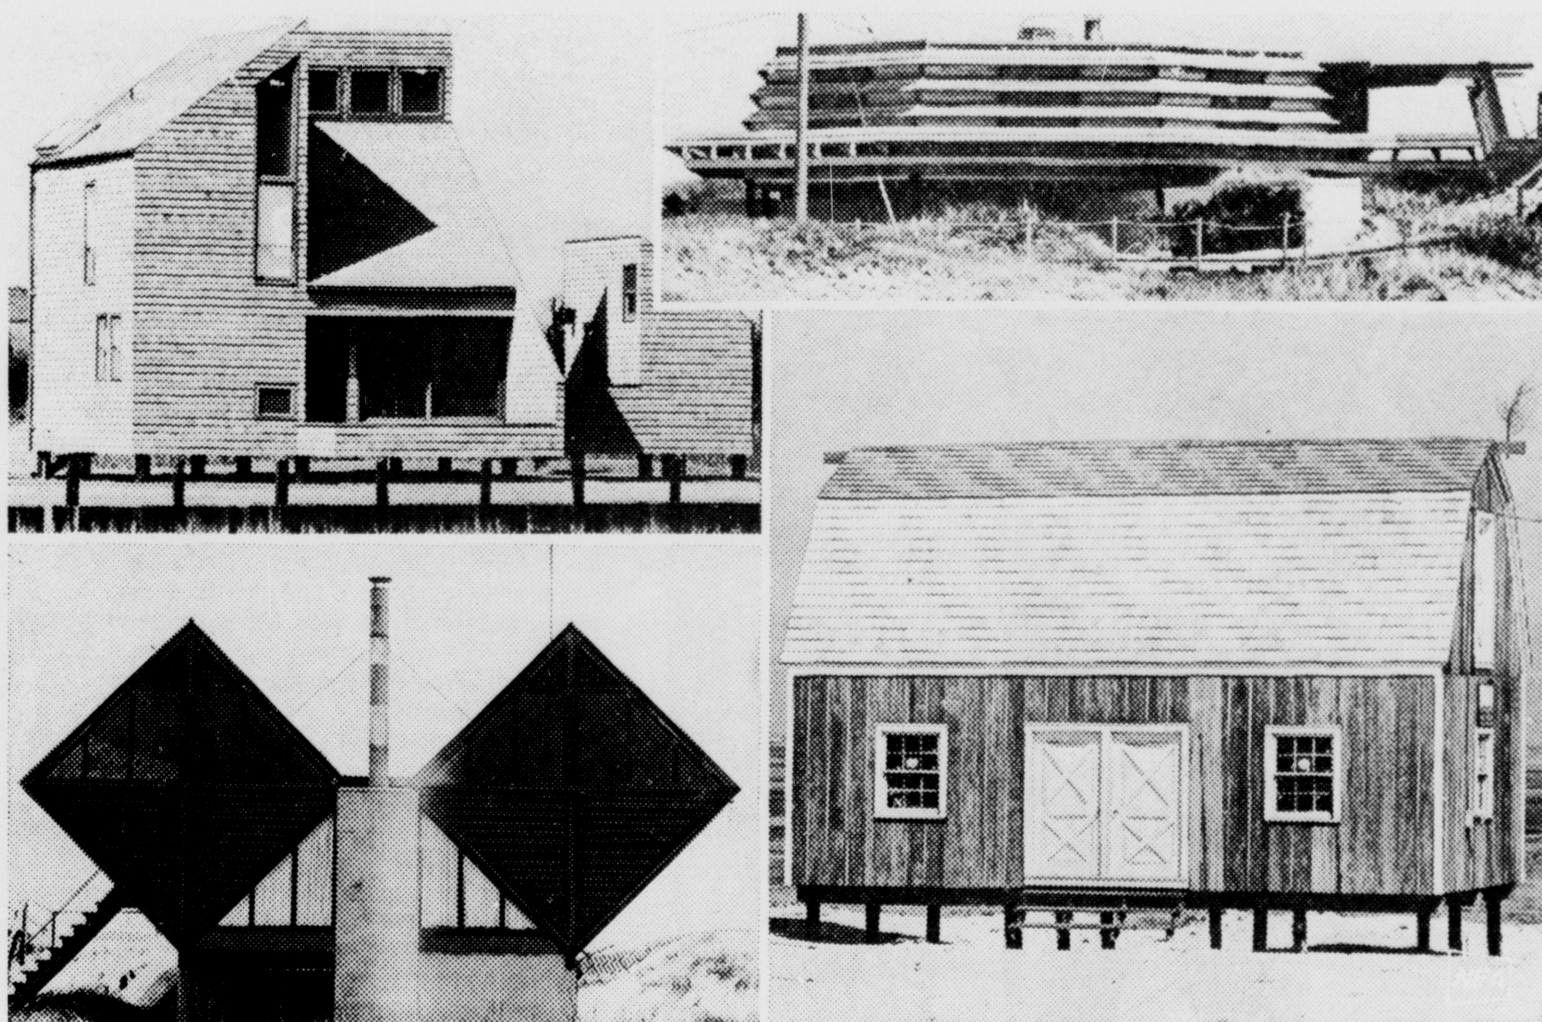

This is the first office of Farm & Home, founded in 1893. In these past 75 years, Farm & Home has become the largest savings association in Missouri and the great Southwest... and one of the twenty largest in the nation, with current assets of more than $475,000,000.

Size in itself has little meaning. But the things that contribute to Farm & Home's growth are important. Throughout the years, Farm & Home has established the tradition of offering high returns on savings along with security, convenience and courtesy. These, plus a history of sound management and energetic promotion of thrift and home ownership are important... the reasons why more than 115,000 wise and thrifty people NOW save at Farm & Home.

SUMMER HOUSES along New York's Long Island are certainly individual and architecturally unconventional. They share only one similarity: all comply with a local law requiring they be built on pilings as a safety measure against high tides. Building lots in the area start at about $30,000. June-to-September rentals range from $1,100 to $12,000. A high-priced neighborhood in which to build "castles" in the sand. These photos, made at Westhampton Beach and Quogue, show a sampling of the odd shapes including one that resembles a flying saucer and a non-barn barn.

US Troops Divided On GOP Nomination

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops interviewed in Vietnam appear to be evenly divided—for and against—the presidential aspirations of Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon.

"I would rather have seen Rockefeller get it. I think he would be a better candidate," said PFC. Robert Goo of Dayton, Ohio.

"But," he added, "Most of the guys are for Nixon."

"He's a good man, he's got the experience," said Spec. 5 James Simon, 20, of Lansing, Mich.

"I intend to vote for Nixon," said Maj. Paul Roberts of Las Vegas, Nev. "He would be a good man to follow Johnson and to end the war. I don't think there's any doubt that the next president will end the war."

Roberts added: "Nixon's knowledge of foreign affairs is more complete than any of the other candidates. He's not an inspirational leader, but his integrity is not in question."

Nixon is not without his detractors among the military.

"I'm a little disappointed with the Republicans," said John Front of Britton, S.D. "Two years ago there were six or seven Republican possibilities and all of a sudden we're back to the same old thing—Nixon. I'm just not enthused about it. I'd rather see Rockefeller."

"I think he's a pretty good Republican candidate," said Navy Yeoman 3C. Steven Wedeck of Burlington, Iowa, "but I don't think he'll win the election."

"I would rather have seen someone else," said Air Force M. Sgt. Richard C. Jones of Orlando, Fla. "Nixon never was very strong, but maybe he has gained strength in the past few years."

Lt. Joseph A. Trevino of Pittsburgh, Pa. thinks Nixon is the best candidate the Republicans could have chosen, "and I think he's probably going to get the presidency. He's a man with experience."

"He's the best of the Republicans," said Spec. 5 Phillip Shle-man of Dallas, Tex. "I think it will be him in the election."

"I don't think Nixon will win. Rockefeller might have had a chance," said Lt. John Van Mol of Knoxville, Tenn. "The American people are not being given a real choice this election."

Capt. Robert Engstrom of Worcester, Mass., said he would have preferred Rockefeller. "I cannot say I am delighted with the choice of Nixon. I would prefer to see a more liberal candidate."

"Some more progressive views are needed on America's problems—including Vietnam—than anything Nixon is likely to come up with," he said.

"Nixon is probably the best chance the GOP has," said Lt. Thomas A. Leeton of Knoxville, Tenn. "Some of the other candidates were probably just as good, but Nixon has more of a name because of his record as vice president under Eisenhower."

Leeton added, however: "I am undecided whether to vote for him. That depends on his running mate and whom the Democrats nominate."

Night of Tension

By GAYLORD SHAW

Associated Press Writer
 MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — As the Republican National Convention roll call began, Richard M. Nixon spread a tally sheet across a battered brown briefcase resting in his lap.

He jotted down each state delegation's vote as it was broadcast over the color television set in the circular penthouse sitting room, an aide said later.

The list of states yet to be called grew shorter and Nixon's vote total grew larger.

Then, in Convention Hall three miles away, Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles stepped to a floor microphone and, shouting above the exploding din, cast the votes that made Nixon the Republican presidential nominee.

"Knowles did it," the 55-year-old former vice president said as he turned in his swivel chair to smile at his wife, two daughters, future son-in-law and eight aides who had joined him in the 18th-floor hotel suite.

But the night of victory was not without tension.

After hearing his name placed in nomination, the candidate became so restive that he ducked out of the hotel for a half-hour automobile ride through the muggy Florida night.

An aide said Nixon hadn't been outside the hotel since

Monday and wanted "to stretch his legs and get some fresh air." Chatting with two reporters who accompanied him in the baby blue limousine, Nixon said he does not expect to finish his acceptance speech until just before he goes to the convention floor tonight.

Congratulatory telephone calls began pouring in within minutes after he was nominated. One came from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his chief rival in the campaign. Another was from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democrat whom Nixon may oppose in the November general election.

Then began a series of meetings with aides, friends, congressional leaders and party officials.

One of the first to arrive at his headquarters was Barry Goldwater, the 1964 GOP nominee. Stepping off an elevator, Goldwater said the convention vote went as expected.

"I hit it right on the nose, and I made a bundle," Goldwater said. "I'm going to teach those guys not to bet me."

Study On Genetic Defects

BARHARBOR, Maine (AP) — New studies indicate that a genetic defect linked to crime and violence may be upwards of six times more common than previously thought.

Instead of affecting one man in 2,000, the abnormality may be present in one out of every 300, three prominent geneticists said Tuesday.

The defect involves the make-up of a man's chromosomes, 46 groupings of the genes which are the means for transmitting heredity. Normal women have sex chromosomes designated XX while normal men have sex chromosomes designated XY.

Men with the defect discussed at the seminar have an extra Y element in their sex chromosomes, which are designated XYY.

The XYY condition gained worldwide attention recently when Daniel Hugon, a French stable hand accused of murdering a prostitute, was found to have XYY chromosomes. His lawyers contended he was not responsible for his actions because of his genetic makeup.

There also has been speculation that Richard Speck, convicted of killing eight Chicago nurses, is XYY, but his case still is before the courts and the role of an XYY condition is not clear.

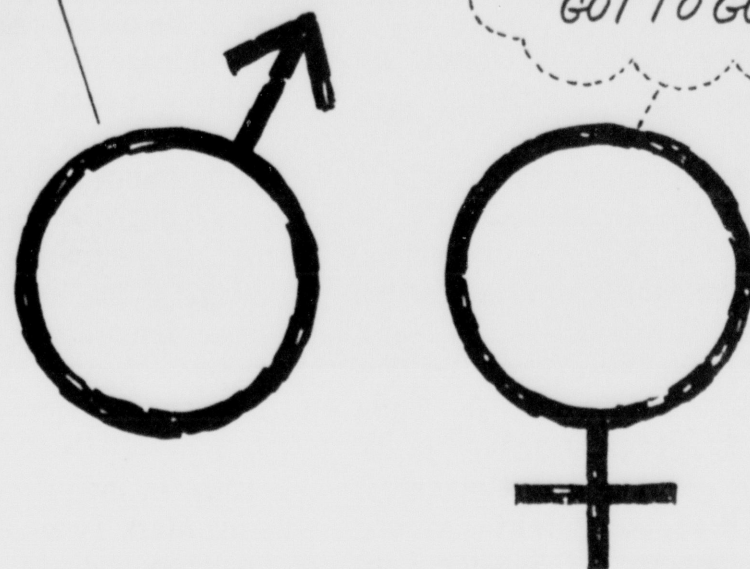

Men with the XYY condition characteristically are excessively tall, often six inches above normal. Many are dull mentally and often have acne. Their behavior varies from passivity to extreme aggressiveness.

The three geneticists — Dr. Park S. Gerald of Harvard Medical School, Dr. Malcolm Ferguson-Smith of Glasgow University in Scotland, and Dr. William J. Young of the University of Vermont — spoke at a conference being conducted at the Jackson Laboratory by Johns Hopkins University with March of Dimes support.

Their conclusions were based on a total of 3,700 consecutive births, half male and half female, in Canada; Edinburgh, Scotland; New Haven, Conn.; and Pittsburgh, Pa. Six cases of the XYY syndrome were found among the male babies.

Stormy Weather Ahead

Altogether, now, folks, as an aftermath of the primary election: "Everybody Happy, Well I Should Say!" With some finger-crossing, of course. You can't win 'em all.

Gradually, the closing of ranks will occur among the Democrats and Republicans in preparation for the general election in November. The latter ought to be a humdinger. We are assured of this on the state and local levels by the voters' selection of formidable candidates at the primary election Tuesday.

Of particular interest will be the competition of the two Toms — Democrat Eagleton and Republican Curtis — in the contest for U.S. Senator. Naturally there is temporary disappointment among Democratic supporters of Senator Long and True Davis whose loyalty to them went right down to the voting booth. But the final decision was made abundantly clear by Eagleton adherents. Business of the fall campaign is next in order for the partisans to align their forces.

Now that Republicans have made their choice at the Miami Beach convention the closing of ranks and the healing of sore spots must take place if the GOP expects to get anywhere with an ambition to take over Washington after long retirement. This may be their year to do so because of the widespread dissatisfaction among the people the way things have been run by Democratic incumbents.

However, the Democrats haven't yet had their Chicago convention fling although the old pros say it is cut and dried for the Chicago performance the last week of this month. There can be miscalculations about this.

Apathy among the voters in the Missouri primary will not be repeated in the general election preliminaries which will begin warming up in September with heated political determination more scorching than the electorate has encountered for a decade or two. Stormy weather ahead!

—O—

Locally, in the primary election, voters entering Mark Twain noticed the absence of boundary-marking American flags at the school entrances to the poll.

—O—

Exponents of the secret ballot contend that if there is a law to this effect, it is not being observed at some voting places. Compartments in which electors shall mark their ballots are not equipped with curtains for the ballot to be "screened from observation." This necessitates the elector using body English if some nebbly person tries to glance over his shoulder, a most unlikely occurrence, however, not yet reported to an election judge.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Convention Costs on Taxpayers

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

MIAMI — It's been a great week in Miami. The political atmosphere has been hot, the ocean cool, the bands exciting, the hotel lobbies jam-packed, the scramble for tickets frustrating.

When it's all over, however, the cold inescapable fact is that you, the taxpayer, will have to pay for it all. You'll have to pay for the orange-colored elephant dressed in a mini skirt, the sky-writers that zoom over the ocean front, the red-white-and-blue decorations and all the other visible hoopla — in addition you'll have to pay for the invisible hoopla — the TV time, the organizers sent by the candidates to each state, the baby-sitters that watch each delegation, the travel back and forth, and many more state and congressional campaigns and finally the cost of the big showdown in November.

This may be a very killjoy look at politics. Certainly it's something the public doesn't know. But the fact is that the public will be paying for these campaign costs through continuing high taxes and continuing tax loopholes for the oil companies, the real estate lobbies and probably high-priced drugs. For tax loopholes for some mean higher taxes for you.

Here is how it has worked in the past:

—Kennedy's Pledge—

In 1960 John F. Kennedy, campaigning for President, had given a pledge that he would curtail the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance which permits oil companies to pay between 4 and 9 per cent taxes, whereas other corporations pay 52 per cent.

After making this pledge, however, and as he got deeper into the presidential campaign, Kennedy was appalled at the mounting costs of being elected President. Though a wealthy man, he faced campaign debts running into the millions.

In the end, a sizeable part of that campaign debt was paid off by oil men at a huge $1,000 a plate dinner organized by the Murchisons of Texas.

After that President Kennedy pretty much ignored his pledge to close the loophole in oil taxes. He submitted a proposal which was so ambiguous that Congress ignored it.

Another illustration was what happened when Eisenhower ran for President. One of his biggest backers was Sid Richardson, the big Texas oil man, a Democrat. At first Richardson tried to persuade Ike to run as a Democrat. When that failed, Sid was quite willing to back a Republican; for oil is thicker than politics.

He and other oil men put up all the pre-convention expenses for Eisenhower at the Commodore Hotel in New York, later a sizeable part of the election campaign expenses.

The investment paid off. After Ike was elected, he signed the Tideland Oil bill which President Truman had vetoed, appointed a panel, largely dominated by oil men, to make a study of oil import quotas, and at first gave his blessing to a natural gas bill, taking the regulation of gas prices away from the Federal Power Commission, until the lobbyists spoiled it by contributing $5,000 to an Eisenhower dinner and trying to bribe Sen. Case of South Dakota.

Seldom have the oil lobbies had their way so blatantly as in the Eisenhower administration. And whether Ike realized it or not, the oil companies figured that their advance investment in paying Republican campaign debts was well worthwhile.

—Drug Manufacturers—

This is almost certain to happen after the Republican convention today, and after the Democratic convention in Chicago. The system is completely bi-partisan. And it isn't always the oil boys who pay and profit. There are others.

At Miami the big drug manufacturers seem to be among the generous backers; also there's an interesting question regarding the long row of millionaires' yachts where various state chairmen and key delegates are being entertained. How much will the yacht owners discreetly influence future legislation? Some are entertaining just for the kick of entertaining bigwigs. Some are entertaining for influence.

But regarding drugs, there are no question marks. With the government paying for hundreds of millions of dollars worth of drugs under the Medicare program, the National Association of Pharmaceutical Manufacturers has become one of the most powerful lobbies in politics.

The chief issue is: the price of medicine. The drug lobby wants medicine purchased not by its generic names, which are dirt cheap, but by the highly advertised trademarked names which you see on television and which are considerably more expensive. The drugs are just the same. Only the name is different.

This has been one of the big debates in Congress and the chief champion of the drug lobby is Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Nebr. Significantly Hruska has been appointed on Richard Nixon's select nine-man board of congressional advisers.

Eugene Beasley, head of the Eli Lilly Drug Company, is also on Nixon's economic committee, while two executives of Warner-Lambert, William Lasdon and Elmer Bobst, are very close to Nixon and put up $8,000 between them to finance two of Nixon's committees, "Congress 66" and the "Committee of the Loyal Opposition."

But whether it's drugs or oil or real estate, big labor or big farmers, the tab for the American political convention must be paid by someone. Also the ever-escalating cost of elections must be paid. We cannot become either a nation of millionaire candidates for public office or of poor-mouth candidates who put themselves in hock to big business or big labor for the future.

The Corrupt Practices Act, supposed to regulate the expenses of political campaigns, is the most tattered law on the statute books.

It needs drastic revision. This column will report further on this vital question.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mrs. D.P. Dyer, 524 South Grand avenue, has been appointed civilian representative for the women's reserve of the U.S. Navy, the WAVES. Mrs. Dyer is one of 75 representatives named in Missouri and Illinois for such service. Her daughter, Mrs. John Atkinson of Fulton holds a similar appointment.

FORTY YEARS AGO

A 350-foot dam will be erected in the near future at the Boy Scout camp near Stover according to plans made at a meeting of the board of directors of the Sedalia Area Camp Club which met in the Boy Scout offices. It will be of the concrete core type and extend 15 feet above channel and be wide enough for a double roadway. It will back up enough water to form a lake 12 to 15 acres.

NINETY YEARS AGO

Mr. W. H. Van Wagner, Deputy County Clerk, returned yesterday from Minnesota where he had been visiting his father the Rev. J. M. Van Wagner. Dr. A.Y. Hull, editor of the Pueblo (Colo.) Democrat, one of the staunchest and best Democratic papers in the Centennial State, and at one time editor of the Sedalia Democrat, arrived in the city looking remarkably well. He reports Mrs. Van Wagner is recovering from her illness.

A Phone Service Plus

Ever begin to make an important phone call in a pay booth, only to find you had dollars in your wallet or purse but nary a thin dime and no place within miles to get change?

Eventually, a person in such a situation will be able to pick up the receiver and dial "O" for operator without inserting a coin. The operator will then place the call.

If it's an emergency, such as a call to police, fire department, hospital, etc., there will be no charge. If it's a nonemergency, like a call for a flat tire repairman, the caller will be charged, either through a telephone credit card or through a third number.

The system is called "Dial Tone First" and is to be introduced sometime this year in Washington, D.C. Later it will go into effect throughout the country.

In the more distant future, it will be possible to dial 911 for emergency service without going through an operator.

Nationwide, the cost of Dial Tone First is estimated at $100 million. The 911 program will cost an additional $50 million because of the complex equipment changes involved and will take several more years to complete.

THE GLOBAL VIEW

U Thant Speaks No Evil on Czech Crisis

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA)

This time U Thant played it cool. The Secretary General of the United Nations refused to become involved in the conflict between Russia and Czechoslovakia.

The United States, for obvious reasons, also refrained from taking a public stand. Any intervention by the American "imperialists" would have been exploited by Moscow as a pretext to invade Prague.

But why did U Thant turn his head the other way when the Russians threatened another member of the United Nations fighting for its freedom and independence? He was never so cautious or "neutral" in his comments on U.S. policies.

Yet he refused to take sides when a Czech reporter asked him whether Moscow's terror tactics against Prague were in accordance with the United Nations resolution passed three years ago by the General Assembly.

Ironically, it was the Russians themselves who initiated the resolution that stressed the "inadmissibility of intervention in the domestic affairs of states" and the "prohibition of the threat or use of force in international relations."

The secretary general, no doubt, had weighty reasons for his "neutrality" on Czechoslovakia. But according to experts on U Thant—and there are scores of them in the plush lounges of the United Nations—he simply bowed to Russian pressure.

Compare U Thant's scrupulous silence on Soviet aggressive moves against Czechoslovakia with his blunt and often brutal criticism of the United States. For instance, here is what he said recently in a speech in Canada:

"I regard the prevailing mood of violence in the United States as a consequence of the psychological climate created by the war in Vietnam."

This was an unprecedented statement by an ostensibly neutral international public servant. It verged on intervention in American domestic affairs.

U Thant himself is understood to have deliberately chosen the day of the opening of the peace talks in Paris between the United States and North Vietnam to make the offensive statement.

Moreover, he also urged concessions by the United States that would lead, as he said, to an end of all bombing of North Vietnam. This is precisely what Ho Chi Minh hopes to gain at the Paris talks without offering anything in return.

The State Department's officials, as usual—and for some obscure reason known only to themselves—decided to make no protest against the secretary general's calculated efforts to undermine the United States bargaining position at the conference table.

Would Moscow be as magnanimous or foolish? U Thant knows only too well that, while he can twist the American tail with impunity, he must tread cautiously with the Russians. They would certainly be after his hide were he to criticize Moscow's pressure on Czechoslovakia as a clear violation of the United Nations resolution and the elementary rule of international conduct.

Such double standard on political and moral issues is, alas, the rule rather than the exception in the United Nations.

The Czechoslovak crisis merely emphasized again why the United Nations, which could be useful as an instrument of world peace, is morally bankrupt. It also raised anew the question of U Thant's anti-U.S. bias and his role as a "peace-maker."

The Italians seem to favor the Napoleonic maxim that luck is on the side of the heaviest artillery, but on today's hand we had the artillery and a misfire at the crucial moment cost us the battle.

Our West opened a diamond at the first table and Forquet and Garrozzo of Italy worked their way up to a nice comfortable three clubs and made five.

Avarelli passed at the second table and Norman Kay and Edgar Kaplan reached five clubs in two bids.

West's diamond lead fell to dummy's ace and the eight of clubs lost to West's ace. The diamond return was ruffed and a trump led to dummy's queen.

South's next play was to ruff a third diamond. East discarded a low heart and Norman Kay noted that West, who had passed as dealer, had already shown up with six diamonds to the queen-10 and the ace of clubs. It looked as if East would hold the ace of spades, but Kay led a spade toward dummy anyway. West played the jack and dummy's queen held the trick. Sitting in an easy chair at home we can see the ace of spades in the West hand, but Norman was sitting at a card table in France and no one showed him that ace.

He returned to his hand by ruffing the last diamond and, after mature deliberation, decided that the heart finesse offered a better chance of success than a second spade lead. He tried it and went down one.

If anyone thinks for one moment that we intend this hand as unfavorable criticism of Kay and Kaplan, let us point out that their bidding was magnificent. Nine pairs out of 10 would have been in three no-trump, going down two or three tricks. They avoided this trap, reached the right contract and finally went down when Norman made the same play that almost any expert would have made.

Steven and Anne-Marie

By CYRENE DEAR

STOUGHTON, WISCONSIN — "No, I am not tired. I just love old people. I shall be old myself some day," said the blond Norwegian Anne-Marie Rockefeller, when she was on a good will tour recently for her father-in-law in the densely populated Scandinavian midwestern states.

"I don't talk politics, but I have my own opinions and I like to meet Norwegians," she added. Mrs. Rockefeller visited the Skaalen Home for the aged where she table-hopped and chatted among the old people in her native tongue. She wore the provincial costume of Sorlandsbonad Kristiansand, with its shoulder kerchief and the symbolic spangled Norwegian jewelry.

"I am on a good will tour for the Governor," she said, "under the auspices of the Scandinavian-Americans for Rockefeller, of which I am the national chairman. We started with a large gathering at Pocantico Hills, N.Y., the Rockefeller estate, on June 26." She and her husband Steven, who also speaks fluent Norwegian, decided to help gain the support of 12 million Scandinavian descendants in this country for the Governor.

Anne-Marie makes friends easily. She is beautiful and friendly in a natural and wholesome manner. She is leisurely in the way she greets people. In speaking to the old people at the Skaalen Home, she made each person feel as if she came especially to meet him or her. "This is fun for me," she said as she talked and ate the Norwegian pastries prepared for her visit.

As I was riding with her in the car and talking to her she said, "It is amazing what you believe in. I have three children at home and I want to be with them, but I feel that it is right for me to travel among the Norwegians and win them for the Governor. I shall go home to see my children before my husband and I go to Miami for the convention. If the Governor is nominated, and I hope he will be, I shall cast my first vote in a Presidential election and it will be for Rockefeller."

Steven and Anne-Marie are frequent visitors to Norway and have recently bought an old farm house near her parents' home. They have three children, Steven Jr. who is eight and in the third grade, and two younger girls, Ingrid and Jennifer. Since their world famous marriage, they have been busy establishing their home, raising their family, and working in many community activities. Her main interest is similar to Lady Bird Johnson's — landscape and cityscape beautification, especially in the communities around Tarrytown, New York. She works through school and community groups to plant shrubs and flowers and to eliminate litter and other unattractive sights. The young Rockefellers are members of the American Scandinavian Foundation, which fosters cultural exchanges between these nations. Steven is a graduate of Princeton 1958 and also of Union Theological Seminary in New York. When not campaigning for Uncle Nelson, he is working on his doctorate at Columbia.

While taking time to be friendly, Anne-Marie wanted to see the schedule so she would be ready for her next stop.

One-Person-Command Best In Survival Situation

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Yesterday, I touched on the importance of quantity and preparation in meeting an unexpected emergency. In a survival situation, one must remember that comfort is not essential. With a strong will to live a man can put up with pain, hunger, thirst, dirt, itching, heat, cold and weariness. Those who succeed against such odds are those who believe in their own worth and who accept disaster as something to be met with a calm determination to survive.

The chances of family survival are greatly enhanced if one person takes command. He should make a work schedule that will give no one any time for brooding. He should not conceal the truth about the gravity of the situation but he should inspire hope and dispel fear and feelings of self-pity.

A great boon to survival is a knowledge of which parts of what wild plants can be safely eaten. Grass, although low in food value, is good for stopping the pangs of hunger and for its vitamins A, B and C. There are 13 uncommon plants that are often ignored by a starving man that could keep him alive indefinitely. They are arrowroot, purslane, ground cherry, water lily, pigweed, knotweed (avoid the root), dock, hibiscus, hollyhock, rose, sunflower, cattail and plantain.

Q — What is the cause of histoplasmosis? How does it affect one? Is there any cure for it?

A — This is an infection with the fungus, Histoplasma capsulatum. When it lodges in the lungs it causes prolonged fever, shortness of breath, chest pain, loss of weight and weakness. It closely resembles tuberculosis. More rarely it causes ulcers of the mouth. Treatment with the antibiotic, amphotericin B, is effective for all types of this disease.

Q — It is true that a regular ration of iodine makes the hair thicker? What foods are high in iodine?

A — Iodine is one of the elements essential to the body, but one milligram a week is enough to supply all the body's needs. If it made one's hair thicker, thinning of the hair would be no problem in this country with its heavy consumption of iodized salt. Iodine is present in most seafoods but supplemental doses of iodides must be used with great caution or iodine poisoning will result.

Mummy Mystery

Dental researchers from the University of Michigan, X raying a 3,000-year-old Egyptian mummy long believed to be that of the infant Princess Moutemhit of the XX1st Dynasty, have discovered that it is really the body of a monkey. Why the animal was substituted for the princess in the royal casket is a mystery.

The long history of mankind is replete with examples of rulers making monkeys of themselves, but this is the first known instance of making a ruler out of a monkey.

AP Poll Off Slightly On Voting

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — In winning the Republican presidential nomination, Richard M. Nixon's first ballot total before changes was only eight votes higher than the result indicated in The Associated Press survey.

The AP poll, kept updated to the last moment by checks with key delegations, indicated Nixon would get 684 votes, and he wound up with 692.

Three delegates voted for Nixon who were listed as uncommitted although they indicated they would probably vote for him if he looked like a first-ballot winner when their states were reached. And two Wyoming delegates switched to Nixon at the last moment after the previous state, Wisconsin, put him over the top.

Nixon picked up a handful of votes here and there to offset the fact that Hawaii stayed with its favorite son, Sen. Hiram L. Fong, throughout the ballot.

About the only state that failed to follow expectations was New Jersey where Nixon captured 18 of the 40 votes with the remainder going to favorite son Sen. Clifford P. Case.

Nixon's aides had told the New Jersey delegates that he would have 384 votes by the time their state was reached, and that this would point to a first-ballot nomination. Some delegates said that if this were true, they would vote for Nixon rather than Case.

When the count reached New Jersey, Nixon's total stood at exactly 384—and a poll of the delegation revealed that some seven delegates had switched from Case to join the Nixon bandwagon.

The small switches to Nixon left the totals for Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Ronald Reagan slightly lower than the poll indicated. Rockefeller received 277 and Reagan 182, compared with expected votes of 282 and 188.

Only firmly committed delegates, based on primaries, public pledges and AP polls, were counted in the AP survey. Those leaning to a candidate were not included.

Fire Bomb Destroys A Clothing Store

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Police said a fire bombing early Thursday destroyed the Trend Clothing store in the northeast section of Wichita.

Preliminary estimates place the damage at nearly $50,000. Police are searching for four persons seen running from the store.

It was the third Thursday in a row in which a Wichita store was bombed. Last Thursday a fire bomb caused about $300 damage to a supermarket near Wichita State University.

Electronic Speed Device Put Into Use

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas Highway Patrol is using an electronic device in 50 of its 250 patrol cars which can compute the speed of any vehicle in sight, behind or ahead, or proceeding on a cross street.

The device, known as Vascar, can be used whether the patrol car is parked or moving. Cost of installation was covered by a $44,000 grant to the patrol by the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Soccer-To-Me Clinic Draws Near

Al Kaczmarek Will Share Valuable Soccer Knowledge

The former Executive Vice-President and General Manager of the Kansas City Spurs, Al Kaczmarek, has joined the ranks of instructors for the Sedalia Khoury Soccer Association's "Soc-cer-to-Me Clinic", Aug. 13-15.

Labeled by a Chicago news service as "Mr. Soccer", Kaczmarek brings the reputation as for 17 years being the most influential figure in American soccer. In 33 of his 39 years he was a player, trainer, manager, owner, purchaser, seller, administrator and more.

Kaczmarek's commitment to the game is total. Soccer has followed virtually his every step from Gelsenkirchen, Germany, his birthplace to Chicago in 1950, where he nurtured the growth of amateur play, and finally to General Manager and Vice-President of the Kansas City Spurs.

He started playing the game at six, worked his way to junior international play for Germany, played for several all-star teams and performed for the Famous Schalk 04, long a leading professional club in Germany.

Before an injury cut short his career, he played in 44 different countries.

He now comes to Sedalia for the three-day "Soc-cer To Me Clinic", his role being that of teaching and talking game strategy and in the different team system uses, such as the 4-2-4 and other alignments.

Kaczmarek will in Tuesday's Aug. 13 session speak on conditioning and body timing; Wednesday, the development of team offense and defense; and Thursday, the pro-type 4-2-4.

His instruction will add a soundness to the "Soc-cer to Me Clinic" sponsored by the Sedalia Khoury Soccer Association and Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Sedalia.

Event To Feature Soccer Leaders

A site and time for the 1968 "Soccer-To-Me Clinic" has been named. The site is Liberty Park North Field; the dates, Aug. 13-15.

There will be two player sessions each day, the morning session beginning at 9:30 a.m. for 9 through 13-year-olds; the afternoon session beginning at 1:30 p.m., for 14-year-olds and older including coaches.

Red Wing Team Into Top Spot

The Red Wing Pest Control "shot" the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Green Ridge out of the top spot in the Wednesday night Trap Shooting League at the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club to take over first place. The Bankers dropped to third spot with Cash Hardware moving up to second spot.

The standings of the teams is as follows: Pest Control 1036; Cash Hardware 1031; Farmers and Merchants Bank 1029; Third National Bank 1027; Ray's Skelly, Green Ridge, 1024; Vic's Package Store 1022, tied with Le Roy's Steak House; State Fair Restaurant 1020; S and M Athletic Stores 1018; Central Missouri Real Estate 922; Bill and Marcia's Cafe Green Ridge, 931.

High teams for the night were Third National Bank with 106 x 125 and Central Missouri Real Estate 105 x 125.

Three had perfect nights at the line for high individual scores. Vernon Arnett and Dick Sole both of Green Ridge and Chuck Williams, Sedalia, 25 x 25 while three others tied for second hitting 24 x 25. The second highs were Dave Williams, Warsaw, Bill Nichols, Clinton and Bill Neth of Sedalia.

Palmer set out today to break the shackles of a long slump as firing opened in the first round of the $125,000 American Golf Classic.

The muscular Pennsylvanian and 127 other pros and three amateurs challenged the back-breaking Firestone Country Club course. The par-70 Firestone layout, rated one of the best in the world, measures 7,180 yards.

Palmer, golf's all-time leading money winner, has only one victory to show this year on the long tour. He won the Bob Hope Classic last winter and has been up and down since.

The millionaire golfer has a lot going for him here. The defending Classic champion, he captured this event twice. In four other Classics, he finished second twice, third once and fourth in 1961. Palmer waited out a mid-afternoon thunderstorm Wednesday before touring the monster course in a hurried practice round.

"Not too good," he said afterward about his tuneup. But win or lose, Arnie's Army stays solidly loyal as Palmer continues to draw the large gallery and the autograph seekers.

Another crowd-pleaser expected to be in hot contention was Jack Nicklaus, the Columbus, Ohio, bomber who won the Western Open last weekend in Chicago, his first tour triumph in 9½ months.

Nicklaus, who said he was pleased with his practice round, hasn't had much luck in the Classic. His best showing was a tie for third place in 1962, the year Palmer was winning his first title here.

Other threats were leading money winner Tom Weiskopf, who already has won more than $140,000; towering George Archer; U.S. Open king Lee Trevino; Miller Barber; PGA champion

Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at Liberty Park there will be a special coaches' and referees' clinic. All parents and persons interested in coaching or refereeing for the 1968 Soccer Season are urged to attend this special session.

The Wednesday night session as well as all the sessions will include college soccer coach Paul Peaks of Springfield; former professional general manager Al Kaczmarek of the Kansas City Spurs; and North American Soccer League referee Paul Seymour; along with local head of officials Leonard Makarewicz, and Sedalia Kicker Coach Jim Koerner.

The clinic is free and open to the public. It is being sponsored by the Sedalia Khoury Soccer Association and the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Sedalia.

San Francisco Nips Phils, As Houston Beats Yanks

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Young George Stone, two days away from his 22nd birthday, just might have nailed down a permanent job at Atlanta, which is a lot closer to his home town of Ruston, La., than, say, Montreal or San Diego.

"He looked real good to me," Atlanta manager Luman Harris said after the rookie lefty pitched and batted the Braves to a 10-2 victory over Chicago Wednesday night.

"We've got to give him another look or two before deciding on whether to protect him in the draft or not."

Stone, making only his second start of the season, drove in three runs, limited Chicago to six hits, struck out five and walked only one.

"I'd say he passed with flying colors," Harris said.

The league leading St. Louis Cardinals whipped Cincinnati 3-1, Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 6-2 in a late night game, San Francisco nipped Philadelphia 4-3 in a day game and Houston fought off the New York Mets in a game marred by a brawl.

In the American League, Detroit completed a 5-2 victory over Cleveland in a game suspended Tuesday night, then clipped the Indians 6-1 in the regular game. Baltimore won twice, beating Minnesota 3-0 and 9-6 while Oakland and the New York Yankees split a pair, the Yanks winning 3-0 before losing 4-3 in 10 innings. Boston edged Chicago 3-2 and California took Washington 4-2.

Stone had trouble only with Jim Hickman and Ernie Banks, who hit solo home runs for the Cubs.

And it was his single up the middle with the bases loaded that drove in two runs and broke Ken Holtzman's scoreless inning string at 28. He also singled in a run in the Braves' clinching, five-run seventh inning.

"He's a young man with a good future," Harris said. "We'll have to see some more of him," as reference to the expansion draft to stock the two new teams in Montreal and San Diego.

Ron Fairly and Bob Bailey each drove in two runs and Don Sutton scattered eight hits in Los Angeles' victory over Pittsburgh. Sutton had a five-hitter going into the ninth, when he weakened and finished with an eight-hitter. Donn Clendenon had a homer for the Pirates.

The league leading Cardinals, delayed in starting one hour and 20 minutes by rain, consumed only 1:56 in whipping Cincinnati. It put them 14 games ahead of the pack and dropped Cincy from second to fourth.

Tim McCarver singled in a Cardinal run in the first and they made it 3-0 in the fifth on doubles by Bobby Tolan and Orlando Cepeda and a single by Phil Gagliano. Pete Rose homered from second to fourth.

At Houston, the Astros increased a 2-1 lead to 4-1 on Denis Menke's single, Doug Rader's hard-sliding triple and Dick Simpson's sacrifice fly.

A brawl broke out after Rader's slide flattened the Mets' third baseman, Kevin Collins. Both teams rushed to the field and individual battles broke out all over the place before police helped restore order.

The Mets threatened with two out in the ninth before Steve Shea put out the fire.

Willie McCovey's second home run of the game, and 28th of the season won it for the Giants against Philadelphia. His first of the game and helped build a 3-1 edge, but the Phils tied it in the eighth in four singles.

Detroit Completes Victory

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Keough and Dave Campbell obviously haven't been around long enough to adjust to 1968's Great Hit Famine.

Keough of Oakland and Campbell of Detroit had a total of six major league at bats between them before Wednesday—all of them belonging to the Tiger infielder.

Today they both have their home runs and Keough, fourth member of Oakland's Arizona State Alumni Association, also has a small spot in baseball's record book.

Keough, called up from the minor leagues earlier this week, became the 37th player to hit a homer in his first big league at bat—the 10th one to do it as a pinch hitter—and helped Oakland defeat the New York Yankees 4-3 in the second game of a Wednesday doubleheader. New York took the opener 3-0.

Campbell, playing in his sixth game, and first as a starter for the Tigers, tagged his first major league hit—a homer naturally—as Detroit defeated Cleveland 6-1.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Boston clipped Chicago 3-2, California dropped Washington 4-2 and Baltimore swept a doubleheader from Minnesota 3-0 and 9-6. Detroit also completed a 5-2 victory over Cleveland in a game suspended after eight innings Tuesday night.

In the National League, San Francisco nipped Philadelphia 4-3, Houston edged New York 4-3, Atlanta pounded Chicago 10-2, St. Louis topped Cincinnati 3-1 and Los Angeles beat Pittsburgh 6-2.

Keough, like teammates Rick Monday, Sal Bando and Reggie Jackson, came to the A's off the Arizona State campus, and was batting .303 at Birmingham of the Southern League when Oakland sold Floyd Robinson to Boston last week and Keough came up.

He got his first major league swing in the eighth inning of the second game with Oakland trailing 3-2 and tagged a Lindy McDaniel pitch into Yankee Stadium's right field seats. That tied the score and two innings later, Jackson, not to be outdone by his old school chum, singled Oakland's winning run home.

In the rain-delayed opener, Mel Stottlemyre won his 15th on a six-hitter with Joe Pepitone's two-run homer providing all the offense he needed.

Campbell's first homer was somewhat less dramatic than Keough's. It came in the eighth inning with the Tigers already enjoying a 4-1 edge.

Detroit packed three runs in the first inning—two of them on Bill Freehan's double. Earl Wilson, with late-inning help from Daryl Patterson, won his 10th and Willie Horton clubbed his 27th home run.

Reliever John Wyatt retired the Indians in the ninth inning of the suspended game to nail down the 5-2 victory.

Ken Harrelson whacked his 29th homer—a two-run shot that led Boston past Chicago. The blow keyed a three-run first inning for the Red Sox and gave Dick Ellsworth enough working room for his 11th victory.

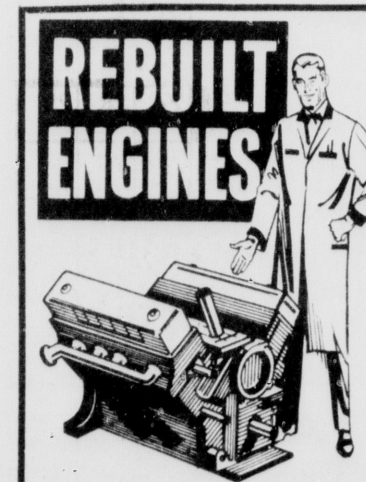

Harrelson, taking dead aim at the Triple Crown, now leads the American League in batting with a .297 mark, in runs batted in with 93 and is second only to Washington's Frank Howard in homers.

Howard smashed his 32nd but it couldn't prevent California from taking Washington. Chuck Hinton, an ex-Senator, did most of the damage, doubling and scoring in the fifth inning and then singling the tie-breaking run home in the seventh after twice failing to sacrifice.

Jim Hardin's six-hitter shut out Minnesota in the first game of Baltimore's doubleheader against the Twins with homers by Curt Blefary and Frank Robinson providing the muscle.

In the nightcap, the Orioles just outlasted the Twins with Robinson coming off the bench to touch off a pair of three-run Baltimore rallies. Paul Blair's two-run pinch single and a two-run double by Brooks Robinson keyed the Baltimore comeback.

Brick Discoloration
Problem and Solution

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Our newly purchased older home has brick steps at the front door. They are in good condition except for discolorations from paint spills, etc., which ruin the looks of the house. Any suggestions as to how they may be cleaned will be greatly appreciated. —MRS. R. S. R.

DEAR POLLY—Some white paint splashes on the front of our red brick house marred its looks. I mixed some dabs of red and black paint until, by experimenting, I obtained the same red-brown color as the bricks. By applying this very thick with the smallest-sized brush over the white spots, the splashes were completely hidden. One must be sure the paint mixture is very thick so the newly applied paint does not run down into the mortar that binds the bricks. —BERTHA

DEAR POLLY—Norah can make her mail box more attractive by spray-painting with black or a color matching the trim on her home. Decals which repeat the architectural feeling of the house, such as an eagle for Early American, a fleur-de-lis for French Provincial and so on, can add to its attractiveness. Free-hand primitive-type drawings of sunflowers, tulips and such can also be made by even a nonartist. Lettering can be in keeping with the design or purchased as decals. Train ivy to climb up the post that holds the mail box and it will be so attractive the mailman will enjoy bringing your mail. —MRS. G. M.

DEAR POLLY—Norah's drab mail box would be pepped up after painting it with white enamel, leaving the flag red, of course. She could put Pennsylvania Dutch decals (they are usually red, white and blue) on each side of the box. I would have name and numerals gold with this scheme and paint the post blue. —MRS. M. H.

DEAR POLLY—I have a very good place to keep my purse, with a handle, so that it will not be found by an intruder. Put a cup screw on the back of your dresser, hang the purse there and none but you will know where it is hanging safely, out of sight. —MRS. L. R. C.

Man On The Spot

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Phil Bengtson is a man on the spot.

For the new Green Bay Packers' coach, there seems to be only one way to go, and that's down. But the sages who are predicting the demise of the Packers aren't taking into consideration Bengtson's philosophy. He believes in the status quo.

"We won't be satisfied with anything less than No. 4," Bengtson says, referring to the Packers' three consecutive National Football League championships.

Vince Lombardi stepped out of the coaching post after leading the Packers to six NFL titles and to two consecutive Super Bowl crowns. In nine years, Lombardi's teams won 141 games, lost 39 and tied four, including both preseason and postseason games.

Bengtson, who came to Green Bay with Lombardi as his top assistant, has been the quiet man in the background who has shaped the Packers' defense. Last season, the Pack led the NFL in seven defensive categories, not to mention over-all team defense.

Willie Davis, 6-foot-3 and 245 pounds, and Lionel Aldridge, 6-4 by 245, anchor the defensive line. Ron Kostelnik at 6-4, 240, and Henry Jordan, 6-3, 250, provide an agile, mobile and hostile interior.

Top draft choice Fred Carr, 6-5, 240, will get a shot at tight end.

The linebackers, considered the finest trio in football, are Dave Robinson, 6-3 and 245; Ray Nitschke, 6-3, 240, and Lee Roy Caffey, 6-3, 250.

Both Herb Adderley, 6-1, 210, starting his eighth year, and six-year veteran Bob Jeter, 6-1, 205, have been All-Pro picks at cornerback. Willie Wood, 5-10, 190, is another All-Pro pick, former at safety, aided by five-year veteran Tom Brown, 6-1, 190.

Offensively, the Packers are just as strong. Quarterback Bart Starr has no peers. Even in what admittedly was an off-year in 1967, Starr completed 54.8 per cent of his passes for 1,823 yards and nine touchdowns.

In last week's College All-Star Game, Starr hit 17-of-23, including 10 in a row, and was "unusually sharp," according to Bengtson.

When injuries slowed the former Alabama star, 13-year vet Zeke Bratkowski came off the bench and did his usual competent job.

With super back Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor no longer around, super brats Donny Anderson, 6-3, 215, and Jim Grabowski, 6-2, 220, took up the slack. Grabowski and running back Elijah Pitts, 6-1, 205, showed no signs of last year's injuries in the All-Star contest.

Bengtson can also call on full-backs Ben Wilson and Chuck Mercein and speedster Travis Williams, better known as The Road Runner. Last season, Williams returned four kickoffs for touchdowns, including two against the Cleveland Browns in a single quarter.

Up front, where it counts, Bob Hyland, 6-5, 250, and Ken Bowman, 6-3, 235, will battle it out for the center spot. Whoever wins will be flanked by All-Pro Jerry Kramer, 6-3, 245, and Gale Gillingham, 6-3 by 255, at guards. Bill Lueck, 6-3, 235, also a first-round draft pick, is bidding for a backup spot at guard.

The tackle positions will be manned by Bob Skoronski, 6-3, 250, and 12-year veteran Forrest Gregg, 6-4, 250.

If Starr chooses to move through the air, he can utilize the talents of veteran split end Boyd Dowler, 6-5, 230; flanker Carroll Dale, 6-2, 200; their replacement, Bob Long, 6-3, 190, or tight end Marv Fleming.

Then there's the Packer pride, that intangible that separates champions from second-place finishers.

"There's only one way to go," Bengtson says. "Four in a row. It's unheard of, but I see no reason why we can't continue winning."

That is the day the initial payment of the franchise—$1,120,000—is due. Bronfman said there will be no extension and none is being sought.

Bronfman said he was prepared to allow play in the Autostade without a roof on it on a temporary basis.

Seating capacity of the Autostade, home of the Montreal Alouettes of Canada's Eastern Football Conference, would be increased to 37,500 for baseball.

Covering the Autostade with a roof was not among the requirements of the National League. The idea to cover the stadium arose because cool temperatures at both ends of the season would be unfavorable for baseball.

Montreal was awarded a franchise May 27, along with San Diego. Passed over were Buffalo, Milwaukee and Dallas-Fort Worth.

Bronfman told the newspaper he got Irsey's telegram before a four-hour meeting Wednesday in Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau's office attended by Warren Giles, president of the league, city officials and two Canadian sponsors of the Montreal franchise.

Contents of the telegram, Bronfman said were kept secret from all but those who attended the meeting. He divulged the telegram's content only after being told of comments Irsey said to have made in Chicago Wednesday to Chicago newspapers and radio stations.

Irsey also said to have told interviewers that Bronfman and the other Canadian sponsors were pulling out.

The other sponsors are Lorne Webster, Sidney Maislin and John Newman.

Bronfman told the Gazette Irsey's reported statements are "irresponsible ... and quite shocking."

He denied that he intends to pull out of the group. Reached by telephone early today, both Maislin and Newman said they had no comment.

McCarver Happy

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Tim McCarver, first string catcher for the St. Louis Cardinals now so happy to get in a game now he isn't going to get cocky just because his batting average is going up. But not very much.

McCarver collected two hits Wednesday night, the first driving in a run that put the Cards on their way to a 3-1 win over Cincinnati. He hadn't got two hits in one game since June 29.

"I haven't been doing very much. I'm getting too much money for hitting .238," McCarver said. "When you raise your average to .238 let's not get too complacent," he added with a grin.

Tim's single in the first scored Bobby Tolan who was hit with a pitch and advanced when Orlando Cepeda walked.

The Cards added two more runs in the fifth on doubles by Tolan and Cepeda and a single by Phil Gagliano.

Pete Rose tagged Cardinal starter Mel Nelson for a homer in the sixth, but that was it for Cincinnati. Nelson, a leftie making just his fourth start of the season got help in the eighth from Dick Hughes.

Nelson is now 2-1. George Culver (9-11) took the loss. He was replaced by Jay Ritchie in the fifth.

The victory gave the Cards a 14 game hold on first place and dropped the Reds from second to fourth place.

The game was delayed by rain for more than one hour but took less than two hours to play.

In a series finale tonight Ray Washburn (10-4) goes against Tony Cloninger (3-6).

Another big offensive tackle, Walt Rock of San Francisco of the NFL, is having geographical problems.

The 6-5, 265-pounder with five years in the league said he might retire at the age of 26 unless he is traded to Baltimore or Washington.

Rock said he has taken over his late father-in-law's prosperous garage door business on the East Coast, but is bound to the 49ers by the option clause of a two-year contract he signed in 1966.

He said that the 49ers told him before he signed they would work out a trade, but now say Washington is "offering only trash for me."

"I read that Otto Graham, the Washington general manager, says he would like to have me but that the 49ers want too much for me."

"I am not a holdout and I am not 'playing' out my option because you can not 'sit' out the option year; you have to 'play' it out by joining the team. I had to 'retire.'"

But Eubank still ordered Plunkett to report to training camp at 300 pounds. Plunkett, however, came in at 337 and managed to lose only seven pounds and his starting job to 6-6, 270-pound rookie Sam Walton of East Texas State.

Rock said he has taken over his late father-in-law's prosperous garage door business on the East Coast, but is bound to the 49ers by the option clause of a two-year contract he signed in 1966.

He said that the 49ers told him before he signed they would work out a trade, but now say Washington is "offering only trash for me."

"I read that Otto Graham, the Washington general manager, says he would like to have me but that the 49ers want too much for me."

"I am not a holdout and I am not 'playing' out my option because you can not 'sit' out the option year; you have to 'play' it out by joining the team. I had to 'retire.'"

But Eubank still ordered Plunkett to report to training camp at 300 pounds. Plunkett, however, came in at 337 and managed to lose only seven pounds and his starting job to 6-6, 270-pound rookie Sam Walton of East Texas State.

Ready to Sail Home

School teacher Wallace Baker, 42, and his wife and sons stand aboard their ketch, Comet II, in Swanwick, England. The Bakers sold their home in San Francisco some time ago to come to England and buy the boat. Now they intend to sail it back to America. The family is on its way now. Baker is in the background, directly behind his wife, Lola. Their sons are, left to right, Ron, Brent and Jack.

Capital Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says Cassius Clay told his draft board he was a professional boxer—not a minister—and Supreme Court review of his conviction on refusing military service should be turned down.

The former world heavyweight champion, who prefers to be called Muhammad Ali, has asked the court to overturn the conviction and a five-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine.

Clay seeks a ministerial exemption or conscientious objector status based on his beliefs as a member of the Black Muslim faith. He is free on $5,000 bond.

But the Justice Department, in a brief, said Clay consistently listed his occupation on Selective Service forms and questionnaires with terms such as "professional boxer" and "heavyweight champion of the world."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's staff has packed the last mementoes, decorations and personal files and officially closed the office.

It had been kept open two months after his assassination in Los Angeles, a traditional period on the death of a senator, for remaining staff members to wind up a variety of matters and pack effects.

Kennedy's office, on the third floor of the New Senate office building, was closed Tuesday.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has not named a successor to Kennedy who was shot June 4 shortly after winning the California primary in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Capital Footnotes
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The State Department says an increasing number of false distress appeals for permission to go abroad without proper passports has forced it to limit the emergency waiver to matters of life or death and serious injury or illness.

The U.S. Mint still has 300,000 sets of uncirculated 1968 coins for sale—at $2.50 each for $1.33 worth of money. Director Eva Adams says two million sets are being sold and orders for 1.7 million are already in hand.

Capital Quote
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"The doctors thought the situation was serious enough that I should be here. When the boss is in trouble I come."—John Eisenhower, arriving from Miami Beach after his father, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, suffered a sixth heart attack.

Listed as Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine Pfc. Scott G. Smith, son of Thelma J. Smith, of Berkeley, Mo., was listed by the Defense Department Tuesday among servicemen killed in action in Vietnam.

PREVEZA, Greece (AP) — Aristotle Onassis, the Greek shipping magnate, is host for Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for a week's cruise.

The Kennedys were flown from Zurich, Switzerland, in a jet belonging to Onassis and left there aboard a launch for his private island hideaway of Scorpis, in the Ionian Sea. There they boarded his yacht, Christina.

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Little Buddy Labrozzi, facing blindness at 7, is winding up a Western trip that included major tourist stops "in a state of excitement."

"He was excited the whole time," Rosanna Labrozzi said Tuesday of her son. Since Saturday "he's had the time of his life," she said.

The youngster and his mother fly home to Eastlake, Ohio, today to begin treatments for peripheral uveitis, an inflammation of the inner eye. His doctors say he will become totally blind soon.

When the people of Eastlake heard of it, they donated money for Buddy's trip.

Cook chicken giblets with water and seasonings; add wing tips and chicken necks so broth will be richer. Strain; cut up giblets and return to the strained broth; use this for making gravy.
